Congratulations! You've completed the TypeFinder.

Phew! You just answered 130 questions about your personality. Nice work!

Let's dive right in and see what we've found about your personality type. But first, a note:

This is a "sneak peek" at your results. This free, basic report shows you how you scored on each of the four major dimensions of personality. You'll learn about the fundamental elements that make up your personality type, and what these four factors mean for your life. You'll also get a hint at the additional depth and detail you can discover if you unlock your full report ($29).

With that out of the way, let's take a look at your results!

The Elements of Your Personality

We'll begin by looking at the four major dimensions of personality, and showing you how you scored on each dimension. Each dimension provides a broad description of how you approach things in a fundamental aspect of your life: how you manage your energy, relate to others, process thoughts and feelings, and organize your daily activities.

Introversion vs. Extraversion

This dimension describes how you manage your energy. Your preference for Introversion or Extraversion relates to how readily you express yourself, how easily you warm up to new people, and the extent to which you engage with the world around you. But most fundamentally, this dimension relates to whether you are energized by time alone, or time with other people.

Shares

Introverts are energized by being quiet, reflective, and calm. They maintain a distance from the outside world and prefer to conserve their energy.

Introverts enjoy:

- Contemplating ideas and experiences
- Being in calm surroundings
- Exploring a subject in depth
- Reflecting on thoughts or feelings
- Maintaining distance and privacy
- Quiet and solitude

Extraverts are energized by engaging with other people. They approach the world enthusiastically and want to experience the excitement of life.

Extraverts enjoy:

- Interacting with people
- Being in busy surroundings
- Engaging with the outside world
- Expressing thoughts and feelings
- Being noticed by others
- Stimulation and activity

Your dominant energy style is Extraversion.

Your responses were 65% consistent with a preference for Extraversion, and 35% consistent with a preference for Introversion.

As an Extravert, you are primarily focused outward, on the world around you. You seek stimulation and activity and enjoy busy environments. You are energized by activity and by interacting with other people. You tend to be talkative and express yourself easily.

Sensing vs. Intuition

This dimension describes how you process information. Your preference for Sensing or Intuition indicates whether your style of thinking is straightforward, factual, and concrete, or creative, intepretive, and abstract. Sensors and Intuitives tend to be interested in different kinds of information, with Sensors more interested in facts and details, and Intuitives more interested in ideas.

Shares

Sensors process information in a concrete, realistic way. They focus on observing and recalling facts and details.

Sensors focus on:

- Observing sights, sounds, sensations
- Noticing details
- Experiencing the present moment
- Concrete, provable facts
- Realism and practicality
- Knowledge from past experience

Intuitives process information in an abstract, imaginative way. They focus on ideas and concepts that cannot be directly observed.

Intuitives focus on:

- Observing patterns and connections
- Interpreting meaning
- Imagining potential
- Ideas and concepts
- Innovation and creativity
- Possibilities for the future

Your dominant cognitive style is Intuition.

Your responses were 82% consistent with a preference for Intuition, and 18% consistent with a preference for Sensing.

As an Intuitive, you are primarily interested in ideas and possibilities. You tend to be bored by mundane details, preferring instead to look at the big picture and understand how everything fits together. You are drawn to interesting ideas and theories, and enjoy imagining the future. You naturally see patterns and connections and often have a "sixth sense" about things.

Thinking vs. Feeling

This dimension describes your orientation to personal values. Your preference for Thinking or Feeling can be thought of as your preference for "head versus heart" in your decision making. This dimension relates to how you prioritize conflicting values, and whether you tend to feel more comfortable relying on logic and reason, or emotions and personal judgments.

Shares

Thinkers value logic, competence, and objectivity. They believe that every person has a responsibility to take care of him or herself.

Thinkers are concerned with:

- Using logical reasoning
- Being unbiased and impartial
- Considering costs and benefits
- Seeking consistency and justice
- Keeping a competitive edge
- Making objective decisions

Feelers value empathy, cooperation and compassion. They believe that everyone has a responsibility to take care of those around them.

Feelers are concerned with:

- Acting out ideals
- Engaging emotions
- Considering the impact on people
- Seeking harmony and appreciation
- Serving others
- Making authentic decisions

Your values style is blended, with a slight preference for Thinking.

Your values style is a blend of Thinking and Feeling, and as such, you are neither an absolute Thinker nor an absolute Feeler. Because you do show a slight preference for Thinking, we can classify you as a Thinker type. However, it's more accurate to say that you are a bit of both Thinker and Feeler: you tend to use both styles in processing information, and you may switch from one to the other depending on the demands of your environment.

Perceiving vs. Judging

This dimension of personality describes how you manage your life. Your preference for Perceiving vs. Judging has to do with your orientation toward structure, schedules, deadlines, and organization. It also has to do with how you tend to manage your time and approach the work you have to do.

Shares

Perceivers like freedom and spontaneity. They have a carefree attitude towards life and would rather be flexible than structured.

Perceivers prefer to:

- Follow the whims of the moment
- Make the rules up as they go
- Have the freedom to be flexible
- Brainstorm options
- Do things when inspiration strikes
- Go with the flow and enjoy surprises

Judgers like structure and order. They keep organized and plan ahead, resist distractions, and stay focused on their goals.

Judgers prefer to:

- Create a plan and stick to it
- See a task through to completion
- Adhere to a schedule
- Set goals and maintain focus
- Follow rules and regulations
- Set clear expectations

Your life management style is blended, with a slight preference for Perceiving.

Your life management style is a blend of Judging and Perceiving, and so you are neither a pure Judger nor a pure Perceiver. Because you do show a slight preference for Perceiving, we can classify you as a Perceiver type. However, it's more accurate to say that you are a bit of both Judger and Perceiver: you tend to use both styles in your life, and you may switch from one to the other depending on the situation. Many people find they are more Judging at work, and more Perceiving in their personal lives.

Unlock your full report to see your scores for the 5 facets of Judging/Perceiving:

Your Personality Type Code

Now, let's take a look at how the elements of your personality combine to create your personality type. Your personality type is the sum of your preferred style on each of the four major dimensions.

We use four-letter codes to describe each personality type. To create these codes, we abbreviate each preference with a single letter, for instance E for Extraverted or N for Intuitive. Then we combine the four letters into a personality type like INTJ or ESNP.

The following chart shows your top 3 personality type matches.

ENTJ – The Commander

Shares

VERY GOOD MATCH

ENTJs are strategic leaders, motivated to organize change. They are quick to see inefficiency and conceptualize new solutions, and enjoy developing long-range plans to accomplish their vision.

ENTP – The Inventor

VERY GOOD MATCH

ENTPs are inspired innovators, motivated to find new solutions to intellectually challenging problems. They are curious and clever, and seek to comprehend the people, systems, and principles that surround them.

ENFP – The Champion

GOOD MATCH

ENFPs are people-centered creators with a focus on possibilities and a contagious enthusiasm for new ideas, people and activities. Energetic, warm, and passionate, ENFPs love to help other people explore their creative potential.

Your Personality Profile

You are energized by challenge and are often inspired by a problem that others perceive as impossible to solve. You rely on your ingenuity to deal with the world around you, and rarely find preparation necessary. You will often jump into a new situation and trust that you will adapt as you go.

Your Core Values:

- Challenge
- Innovation
- Analysis
- Independence

Your Key Motivators:

- Confronting challenges
- Imagining new possibilities

Analyzing issues and ideas
Finding innovative solutions

You enjoy playing with ideas and especially like to banter with others. You use your quick wit and command of language to keep the upper hand with other people, often cheerfully poking fun at their habits and eccentricities. While you enjoy challenging others, in the end you are usually happy to live and let live. You are rarely judgmental, but you may have little patience for people who can't keep up.

You are a master of re-inventing the wheel and often refuse to do a task the same way twice. You question norms and often ignore them altogether. Established procedures are uninspiring to the you, as you would much rather try a new method (or two) than go along with the standard. You are confident in your ability to think creatively, and may assume that others are too tied to tradition to see a new way.

What You Need to Know

You've got questions about who you are and what makes you tick. Maybe you're wondering why you can't find a career that suits you. Maybe you're trying to figure out how to handle a relationship that keeps going sideways. Maybe you're trying to solve the mystery of why you always feel just a little bit...different.

We've spent three years and thousands of hours researching personality type, testing and retesting theories, and crunching more data than you can shake a stick at. And we did it all for one and only one reason: so you can answer those questions. Because it's hard to feel confident in yourself if you're not exactly sure who you really are. It's confusing to go through life not knowing why your perspective doesn't always line up with other people's. And it's nearly impossible to make big life decisions when you're not sure what will ultimately make you happy.

You could keep guessing. You could keep taking free quizzes that only scratch the surface of your personality and give you generic, one-size-fits-all info about yourself. But honestly, that kind of seems like a waste of time. Why not stop filling out endless questionnaires and focus on what's really going to make a difference in your quest to understand yourself? Why not get a detailed, accurate report \(/upgrade-test-results/6955436\) that can actually answer all those tough questions?

Meyers Briggs nails it. I am always surprised by its accuracy and detailed descriptions. It's been helpful as I transition into a new phase of life.

I have done a few of these type of tests before, but never has it been so detailed. I found myself nodding as I was reading the descriptions.

I test sometimes as ENFP and sometimes as ENTP. The report broke down my results in the E/I, S/N, F/T, J/P dichotomies into further traits which was useful.

This test seems very accurate. I recently took a similar test at work that seemed to ignore a whole aspect of my personality. This one is much more insightful and helpful. It's worth the money to get the full report.

I loved this assessment. I have taken the traditional Myer Briggs/16 Personalities assessment 4 times and have gotten 4 different results. None of them truly described who I was. I decided to search elsewhere for answers. TypeFinder asked questions that I actually felt would give better insight into my personality. It also broke down my personality so thoroughly that 1) I understood why I continued to get different results previously and 2) I felt like I was actually finally seeing results that described who I was. I spent the money on the full report (which I have never done before) simply because of how detailed and accurate the free version was. I'd say it's worth the money if you're interested in thorough results, and are curious about the smaller facets of your personality. I'm excited to learn more.

I received great insight into my personality. For the most part, it was very accurate. I definitely had some "AHA" moments as well as moments of clarity. This test really put some things in perspective for me. I wish I used that $29 on the career test though. I need those results a little more right now. LOL I highly recommend this test!

Thanks
